Main Grades- Small Leaf Tea

Broken Orange Pekoe (BOP)

A popular leaf size which helps to bring out a good balance of taste and strength. Well made, neat leaf of medium size without excessive stalk or fiber. There should not be any fine particles (fanning & dust) which are not true-to-grade.

Broken Orange Pekoe Fanning (BOPF)

Particles are smaller than BOP, popular in the higher elevations. Taste stronger than BOP whilst retaining all other characteristics.

Flowery Broken Orange Pekoe Fanning (FBOPF)

Flowery Broken Orange Pekoe Fanning's - similar to BOPF leaf but firm leaf consisting few tips.

Flowery Broken Orange Pekoe Fanning One (FBOPF1)

A typical low country semi-leaf tippy teas, similar to BOPF but firm leaf consisting little more tips than FBOPF.

Flowery Broken Orange Pekoe Fanning Special (FBOPFSP)

Flowery Broken Orange Pekoe Fanning's special - similar to FBOPF1 but firm and more black leaf with much better tips.

Flowery Broken Orange Pekoe Fanning Extra Special (FBOPFEXSP)

A whole leaf tea with an abundance of long tips, similar to FBOP1 but firm and blacker leaf with much better leafy tips.

Flowery Broken Orange Pekoe (FBOP)

Smaller than BOP1 with presence of tips, but larger than FBOPF1

Flowery Broken Orange Pekoe One (FBOP1)

Long twisted wiry leaf, fairly tippy. Longer than BOP1.

Dust (D)

The smallest of particles left after sifting which is often used in tea bags to infuse rapidly and make a brew that is strong and robust.

Dust One (DUST1)

Less grainy than PD & clean.

Main Grades- Leafy

Broken Orange Pekoe One (Bop1)

A well twisted semi-leaf tea generally from the low country, with a mild malty taste.

Orange Pekoe One (OP1)

Long, wiry well or partly twisted tea.

Orange Pekoe (OP)

A whole leaf, well twisted tea. A delicate brew that varies in taste according to the different districts. Less wiry than OP1, but much more twisted than OPA.

Orange Pekoe 'A' (OPA)

Long bold leaf tea with air twist consisting of large and slightly open leaf pieces.

Pekoe (PEK)

Twisted and Coarse tea.

Flowery Pekoe (PEK – 1)

Similar to Pekoe but smaller in size.

Golden Tip (GT)

The (white tea) leaves of our Golden Tips tea are dried naturally. Lingering in sweetness due to hints of honey and pine, this light amber-hued liquor is also high in antioxidants.

Silver Tip (ST)

Similar to above made out of the buds but in silver colour.

C.T.C. (Cut, Tear & Curl)

Broken Pekoe One (BP1)

A larger size leaf with bold round particles giving a full body's bright tea. Equivalent to size of high grown BOP, but granular.

Pekoe Fanning One (PF1)

A smaller size leaf with strong tasting tea. Equivalent in size to grainy high grown BOPF, but granular.

Off Grades

Pekoe Fanning (PFGS)

Fanning's broken leaves, slightly larger than dust.

Broken Pekoe (BP)

Broken Stems, choppy, hard leaf tea.

Broken Orange Pekoe One 'A' (BOP1A)

Flak leaf without stalk and fiber. (Clean tea)

Green Tea

Chunmee (CH)

Chun Mee is a popular green tea. It has a dusty appearance and is generally more acidic and less sweet than other green teas. The tea is divided into several grades with numbers.

Gun Powder One (GP1)

Flavor varies according to the growing location of tea used for production. Its English name comes from its resemblance to grains of gunpowder. When buying gunpowder tea it is important to look for shiny pellets, which indicate that the tea is relatively fresh. Pellet size is also associated with quality. High quality gunpowder tea will have small, tightly rolled pellets.

Gun Powder Two (GP2)

Little opened coarse slightly bigger than GP1.

Gun Powder Special (GP -SP))

Bloom Curl twisted pieces of leaf.

Young Hyson (YH)

Similar to OP but colour must be green.

Green Curl (GC)

Opened coarse more dark colour leaves .

Sowmee (SW)

Even and neat opened pieces.

Green Tea Flowery Fanning (GTFF)

Similar to the BOPF, firm leaf but green color consisting little tips.

Green Powder (GRP)

Powder type tea last part of the manufacture.
